

How will you get the news in 2017?

Prototype Newspaper of the Future Contest

The Southern Newspaper Publishers Association is seeking the best and the brightest take on what “newspapers” will look like in 10 years. We’re looking for revolutionary inventions that connect and engage readers by redefining how news is presented.

Think big. Think radical. Think compelling. No clichés.

Push newspapers to imagine new concepts and propel them into stimulating debates. But consider ways that get newspapers back on the growth train. Start with a blank slate, a white sheet of paper, or a dark computer screen, and go from there. Anyone can enter. The cash prize for the winning entry is $2,000. Deadline for entries is September 15, 2007.

For contest rules, advice and a registration form, visit www.snpa.org/CONTEST

snpa